FROM THE bethel town office

Even in this day and age of high technology, people, not machinery, make the big difference. In May, uncontrollable circumstances arose that necessitated withdrawal from service of three of the Town's most active part-time special police officers. This left full-time Police Chief Bob Stearns to carry out the full range of police service duties virtually unassisted. In June and July, three part-time officers, two special police officers and one constable, were appointed by the Board of Selectmen.

This is the second of a three part series profiling Bethel's Police Department to provide essential information to our citizens concerning the Town's law enforcement service, focusing this time on introducing the police officers themselves.

First a review might be helpful. In general, police have the responsibility to protect the rights of all people and preserve the basic peace of the entire community. In addition to crime control and law enforcement, numerous activities relating to calls for assistance involving complaints of a personal or interpersonal nature make demands on police time and manpower. Also the success or failure of any incident investigation and subsequent prosecution often depends upon the availability of pertinent and relevant physical evidence and statements. Clearly, the ability to respond to calls for police assistance is one of the most important functions of police service where the officers' experience is continued on Page Three

BETHEL CHAMBER SEEKING INCREASED MAINE TOURISM

On Tuesday, Sept. 7, representatives of the Greater Bethel Chamber of Commerce will join four other co-host and co-sponsoring chambers at a meeting in Bridgton. The meeting is called to test the support by all other inland Maine chambers of commerce and business associations for to seek greater political commitment in allocating state resources for promoting Maine's tourism potential.

Initiated by an ad hoc committee of five chambers, Bethel, Bridgton, Carabassett Valley, Rangeley and Windham, the intent of the group is to eventually meet with both gubernatorial candidates, to discuss the issue of Maine's only token effort in promoting tourism and seek specific commitments from the candidates. Next week's meeting in Bridgton is designed to gather as much grass roots support for dealing with the candidates as possible. In all, over 22 organizations have been invited to meet in Bridgton.

One of the concerns of the sponsoring committee is a report circulated in April by the American Society of Travel Agents which lists Maine as being last in the amount of dollars spent by the state in promoting tourism. Another concern is a developing plan which is sponsored by the State Development Office that would possibly influence the way in which Maine structured its tourism promotion efforts in the years to come.

Co-sponsoring members of the ad hoc Inland Lakes and Mountains Tourism Committee aim for a re-investment on the part of the state of a certain amount of dollars collected in direct revenues from the tourist industry—mainly lodgings, restaurants and recreational businesses.

North Paris

— Eveline B. Vatcher, Corres. —

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kalmowski were called to their Portland, Conn. home on August 25, due to the sudden death of their good friend, Robert Wilcox, also of Portland, Conn. They returned home to "Big Rock" Monday. Mr. Wilcox had many friends here who will mourn his loss. Friends looked after the animals and farm, during their absence.

Old Jack Frost came to visit us Saturday evening and he frosted our pepper plants as they had on a few newspapers over them. We are in hopes to have a few tomatoes if old Jack doesn't sneak in again. The vegetables are much slower this fall, as the spring was so cold.

Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse Ippolito, Newton, and Mr. John Manning, Dorchester, Mass., nephews and niece of the late Joseph Barrett, called on Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Vatcher Sunday afternoon. They also called on relatives in Mexico.

Mrs. Rhoda Vatcher took her daughter, Mrs. Rhoda Labbe and two sons to Portland Airport, Saturday evening to meet William Labbe who has been attending Military Police School in Phoenix, Ariz., for the past eight weeks. On Sept. 12, Mr. Labbe will move his family to Texas, where he will be stationed for the next two years.

Several attended the funeral of the late John Hemingway this week.

The Vatchers and Arnold Coffin were at Norman Abbotts on Wednesday for a washer that Joe had bought.

We have enjoyed the record made by Joe Perham and it is very clear and can be heard by all listening, and we hope every one can hear it. It sounds just like Joe.

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Glenwood (Johnny) Newell are glad to hear of his deal with the Indian Land claims. Johnny has worked hard and he deserves a break at his age and we are all glad for them. Enjoy it folks.

Fred Oja has a different pulp truck, with a white cab.

The big yellow buses will be on the road again this week and it doesn't seem possible that it can be that time of year again. A long holiday week end will be coming up next, and snow will soon be here.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson and David, Woburn, Mass., spent the week end at their trailer.

Callers at the Root Lawrences were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Vatcher, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Abbott and Joanne, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Card and Jr., granddaughter, Danielle, Sharon Felt and Jenny, Arnold Coffin.

Tuesday, Aug. 24, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Kalmowski and Doris Lawrence went with the West Paris Senior Citizens for a ride on "The Songo Queen."

NOTES FROM

Evans Notch

White Mountain National Forest

With cooler weather approaching, one's thoughts may turn to firewood. Personnel on the Evans Notch Ranger District are ready to assist you by issuing a free use firewood permit, good for two cords of dead and down wood from National Forest land on the Evans Notch District, free of charge.

Along with the permit, you will receive a firewood brochure and a map of potential firewood areas. Easily available firewood is becoming scarce, and with the large number of ongoing salvage sales and interspersed private land, you are urged to ask about a particular area you may have in mind before cutting firewood.

Many folks are aware that the Deer Hill Road, running from Eyegreen Valley Resort to Route 113, has been closed since the December, 1980 windstorm. This closure was instituted to provide for public safety with the extraordinary volume of traffic on the road as a result of salvage sale activity. By September 1, the first one quarter mile at the Eyegreen end will be reopened to allow gathering of firewood from the recently completed Horseshoe Pond Salvage Sale. People using this segment of road are urged to use caution. With eight million feet still to be hauled over the Deer Hill Road, the remainder of the road will be closed until further notice.

With the coming of fall and the fall foliage season, outstanding hiking and camping opportunities become available. District personnel are available to assist you in identifying opportunities and provide pamphlets and brochures that will enhance your visit.

Funding for the Senior Community Service Program has been depleted for this fiscal year. The program may be abolished in Fiscal Year 1983. Enrollees in this program will be missed as they were instrumental in keeping recreation sites, signs and administrative facilities neat and clean. Their work enhanced the enjoyment of the Evans Notch District by our visitors and users. With their employment coming to an end, our enrollees have a lifetime of experience to offer prospective employers. Employment inquiries are welcomed.

Awareness of the difficulty handicapped individuals encounter when seeking access to a building or facility has increased over the years. There is much to be done to make facilities accessible to all users. In concert with this, personnel have converted the facility in Basin Campground to allow access by all. Future plans, contingent on funding, include site conversion work at Hastings Campground and Gilead Picnic Area.

Mark Boche,
District Ranger

Greenwood City

— Mrs. Collista Morgan, Corres. —

The morning sun was high touching everything with a warm and innocent light. Just the kind of day to spend at the coast. Therefore four of us enjoyed the whole day of flashing sunshine.

The miles we rode to get there were beautiful with wayside shrubs, clear blue sky, and meadows crossed by flickering silvery streams. Here and there, like frosty cobwebs were skeins of birch and poplar branches.

Across the land the summer-long pageant of wildflowers was drawing to a close. Over the lowlands spread the pinkish-purple of Joe pye weed, Chicory, that bluest of blue, shone from the roadside amid the blue of the New England asters.

There were fields massed with the yellow of goldenrod. "Barewell summer" ran on all sides.

We approached the shore and the cold smell of salt water was brought to us.

We emerged from the car and went toward the cliff's edge. The dark sea was below.

Gulls, wheeling like scraps of paper caught up by the wind passed close over head.

We purchased our lunch, chose a table, and sat to enjoy that, and the scenery.

The sky spread like a cerulean canopy flecked with motionless white clouds. It seemed near.

Later we moved on to the park, where we sat to watch the boats, the gulls, and to bask in the sun. Spread before us, miles of sea stretched out. Lobster buoys bobbed with the waves. Pale green water sliced back along the bow of the lobster boats. At the cutting of the switch the churn and lash of the propeller suddenly ceased. Traps were pulled and the boats moved on.

Here on our Atlantic Coast so fraught with history that I can't remember it all we stayed for the afternoon.

A few sea roses were in bloom, as beautiful as ever.

The tide lapped against the rocks and swished in recession making the cobalt-blue sea into lacy ruffles. Black-gray, log-shaped ledges were washed over and the water stretched away forever, shining in the sun.

Afternoon ended and we returned home. On arrival the hills cut off the sun and laid shadows over the valley, reaching out to meet each other.

Mrs. Eva Yates is home and enjoys receiving mail very much.

Sunday night we had a frost that killed some of the garden.

That night I could hear the ocean sound forever rushing by the rocks.

This had been one of the loveliest times of the year, to visit the coast. Perhaps the coast was taking its last sighing farewell of the summer before it steals itself against the gales and sleet-lashings to come.

Ernest Morris had surgery on Friday at Stephens Memorial Hospital and is doing well.

Doris Hayes called on her sister-in-law, Eva Yates, at Sunday River one day this week.

ence and knowledge are brought to bear.

Alan Afflerbach is a resident of Harrison and has considerable experience in the area of law enforcement. A police academy graduate with two years of criminal law at the college level to his credit, Alan served eight years with the East Providence, R. I., police force. He earned a distinguished record and was praised for his courage, productivity and enthusiasm by his superiors and colleagues. After moving his family to Maine and a brief respite in the construction business, he returned to police work with the Norway Police Department. In the short time he has been with us, Alan has undertaken the special task of reorganizing the administrative reporting system to be implemented later this year to improve, among other things, the quality of investigation response.

Geoffrey Low, a resident of South Paris, was appointed as a special police officer in late July. He attended the Maine Criminal Justice Academy and has over six years of experience in both town and county sheriff police work. Geoff has recently started a review of Police Department equipment and material to establish required maintenance and qualification schedules.

Norman Clanton, a Bethel resident for the past year, was appointed as a constable in mid July. He is a retired Air Force officer with over 21 years of experience, much directly transferable to police duties. Norm has started a personal effort to check the radio equipment to insure reliable and complete communication operations.

As many have observed during August, contributions of these qualified, enthusiastic individuals have increased positively the breadth and depth of police effectiveness in Bethel, assisting Chief Bob Stearns with routine police work, special projects and occasional foot patrols. Bob has served the town's police efforts for the past 13 years, receiving an appointment as Police Chief in 1972. He is the

Superintendent's Newsletter

Dr. Wayne F. Gersen

This week's Superintendent's Newsletter is a synopsis of the opening address to the teachers in S.A.D. #44, on Monday, Aug. 30:

To begin the 1982-83 school year, I want to share with you the characteristics of an excellent school system, and share with you the steps that S.A.D. #44 is taking toward becoming an excellent school system.

During the past year, the State Department has disseminated six characteristics of excellent schools to help school districts understand the organization changes that might result in excellence. The six characteristics, not in order of importance, are: good school climate; strong principal; systematic evaluation; parent, community input; high expectations; and strong teachers.

A good school climate is one where there is mutual respect among students, teachers and administrators; where there is a genuine sharing of responsibility; where there is a positive attitude toward students; where there are clear school policies; and, where there is effective school discipline. In a school with good organizational climate, everyone works together in an atmosphere where everyone believes that every student can succeed.

A strong Principal promotes a curriculum that includes: basic skills; arts and humanities; physical development; and, life skills. Moreover, he makes certain that there is a process that produces the mastery of clearly stated objectives, while providing learning experiences that assure high levels of student self-esteem.

A systematic evaluation process provides a variety of communication networks, and assures frequent evaluations that enable students, teachers, and administrators to direct and redirect programs and learning processes. The result of an effective evaluation system is constant curricular revision, and constant professional growth by teachers and administrators.

Parent and community input into the school's operations ensures that everyone understands that education is a shared responsibility. This input should be provided through several avenues, and should be encouraged. As a public school, we should strive to understand and meet the needs of the public.

High expectations are: clearly defined; carefully developed; and comprehensive—covering behavior as well as academic performance. An effort must be made by teachers and administrators to ensure that optimal time is planned and used to reach these expectations. Finally, and most importantly, these expectations should be progressively increased. In districts across this country, increased expectations have always resulted in increased student achievement.

Strong teachers are well trained, carefully selected, and provided with effective staff development. They care about their students, and they love their job. There are no surprises in this outline. A school that is staffed by excellent teachers and led by excellent administrators should be excellent. I believe our district has the high calibre personnel needed to become an excellent school district. In the year ahead, here is how S.A.D. #44 will work toward excellence:

We will improve evaluations; clarify our expectations; increase parent and community participation in our school district; and, increase the level of communication and trust within our district; and between our district and the five communities that make up S.A.D. #44.

Beginning this year, there will be an increased emphasis on goals, an increased emphasis on learner outcomes, and an increased emphasis on mutuality in the evaluation process in the district. For the past three years the Board of Directors of S.A.D. #44 have established annual goals. These goals help the board focus their energy for the coming year. This goal-setting process has been extremely effective in setting district priorities, in defining those issues of greatest importance to the Board. Over the summer, I met with each administrator to develop a set of ambitious goals for the coming year. These mutually established goals will help us focus our energy and schedule our time more efficiently. Similarly each administrator will meet with each teacher at the outset of the year...before any classroom observations...to develop a set of individual goals for the coming school year. The intent of this goal-setting conference is to identify ways of increasing learner outcomes through improved instruction in the year ahead.

The level of student expectations will be addressed in the coming year by developing a method of systematic evaluation for our goals in grades K thru eight, by working on graduation standards at Bethel; and, by having the Board and the general com-

START OF SCHOOL YEAR CHALLENGE TO MOTORISTS AND YOUNGSTERS ALIKE

Motorists beware! The back-to-school traffic has begun. Millions of youngsters, juggling book bags and lunch boxes, are scampering toward school buses, darting across intersections and winding their bikes through the streets.

After the comparatively quiet road patterns of the summer, motorists—the Information Institute notes—must quickly adjust for all this back-to-school traffic.

And the Institute urges parents to make sure youngsters are aware of the traffic hazards they'll face in going to and from school. By following safety rules, school children can lessen the chances of being involved in an accident.

The Institute suggests that parents taking part in school car pools contact their insurance agent or company representatives to make sure their coverage is adequate.

With school resuming, drivers should:

—Use extra caution at school crosswalks. Watch for and obey the guard or patrol on duty.

—Be alert. Children don't always remember they shouldn't run out from between parked cars.

—Watch for school buses loading and unloading students. You must stop for flashing red lights—it's the law.

The Institute suggests parents be sure their children:

—Learn and obey safety rules whether walking, riding or biking.

—Always walk facing traffic (on the left-hand side of the road), if there are no sidewalks.

—Ride bicycles that have been checked for tire wear and whose spokes, chains, gears, handlebars and seats are in safe condition.

Reflectors, brakes, lights, the horn and other safety gear should be checked regularly during the school year.

—Ride with the traffic (on the right-hand side of the road) and in single file. Bicycles should not be ridden on sidewalks.

—Watch out for car doors being opened.

—Be alert for potholes, manhole coverings and loose gravel.

Parents are urged to instruct children riding school buses to keep their arms inside bus windows, and to watch out for oncoming traffic when crossing the street upon leaving the bus.

The Institute notes that remaining alert and following these safety rules will insure a safer school year for both motorists and students.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Chapman and Gretchen, Lancaster, Pa., were week end guests of his sister and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Currier.

Over 150 young people and adults from the Church of the Nazarene Maine District camped overnight Friday at the residence of Pat and Ensel Murphy. They attended a concert at the Bethel Church of the Nazarene Friday evening and Saturday went on a mountain climb.

monity review our expectations as set forth through this committee work. During the past year the Academic Standards Steering Committee put in countless hours to help define student expectations in reading, language arts, and mathematics in the first nine years in our district. In the year ahead, we must reach a decision on how to determine if these standards are being met.

We plan to increase parent and community involvement in the schools by: continuing the parent advisory councils at each elementary school in the district; by completing surveys of graduates and parents at the high school; and, through an increased number of parent oriented activities throughout the district. We must work together with parents if we hope to increase the learning in the school district. We only meet students 25% of the day, and if our efforts are reinforced at home, more learning occurs.

Finally, and most importantly, we all must work together to increase the level of trust between the school and community. To offset the relentless wave of negative publicity that "public schools-in-general" receive in the media. It is difficult to generate trust in an organization that is perceived as mis-managed, overfunded, underworked, uncaring, and undisciplined. We must share our successes with the public.

In conclusion, let me summarize our mission for the coming year. If we are to become an excellent school district, we must work hard, work together, and spread the news...we must tell people that our students get a good education in a district that is striving for excellence.

The Board, administration, and teachers in S.A.D. #44 hope you will support us in our efforts to continue improving in the coming year.

PERMISSION GRANTED —OR DENIED?

During the first few days of school, your child in grades kindergarten through six will bring home many forms to be read, signed and returned.

Very important among these forms will be one allowing your child to participate in the fluoride program—this program has been in place for the past four years, and children who have participated since the beginning are beginning to see results—fewer cavities and improved dental health. With your permission your child can take a daily fluoride tablet and do a weekly fluoride/rinse (swish). National statistics show up to a 50-65% decrease in cavities with continued use of these programs. We feel they are very beneficial in this District, or we wouldn't continue to offer the program to our students.

Ask your dentist or hygienist about it. Give it serious consideration. Don't deny permission because your child doesn't like the taste of the rinse (which takes 1 minute per week) or his friends don't do it. Good news—new cinnamon taste this year! They are your child's teeth and you have a chance to do him/her a favor for life!

We are striving for greater interest and participation in this year's program. So please consider it carefully. It's free to your child, but could save both of you a great deal in the future. If you have questions, feel free to call Jane Barth, R.D.H., Program Co-Ordinator for Dental Health Education, at 824-2931—anytime.

WEST BETHEL UNION CHURCH OBSERVES OLD HOME SUNDAY

Old Home Sunday was observed this past Sunday at the West Bethel Union Church with a very good attendance.

Mrs. Walter Grover and Mrs. Arthur Head in old fashioned costumes were greeters and had charge of the guest book.

Warren Bouchard, principal of Telstar Regional High School was guest speaker.

Rev. David Samuelson of Gorham, N. H., was worship coordinator. He conducted a memorial prayer service at the beginning of the service for the three members of the community who have passed away during the past year: Mrs. Maggie Lowell, Richard Bean and Lloyd Lowell.

Guests were present from Norway, Bryant Pond, Bethel, Medford, Mass., and Gorham, N. H.

Former pastor Mrs. Ralph Burris and husband were present. A letter was read from Mrs. Carlene Bradley Trotter of Bryant Pond, a former student pastor, who served here in the early sixties.

Mrs. Richard Littlefield, organist and choir director, led several numbers on the program. Mrs. Lennie Hoy of West Paris was the guest soloist. The Junior Choir sang several songs, and the Senior Choir sang hymns appropriate for the occasion. Arthur Head gave harmonica solos.

Following the service a picnic lunch of beans baked in the ground, cole slaw and beverages served by church members was enjoyed in the newly decorated basement. Guests brought sandwiches and desserts. A friendship hour was enjoyed.

Rev. Norman Rust who has been on vacation will be back for church services at 11:15 on Sunday.

The committee wishes to thank all who helped in any way on the supper held on Saturday night at the church. This was for the benefit of the church general fund.

Chapel Aid will meet at the church on Wednesday, Sept. 8, at 7:30. Please bring wrapped packages for an auction to be held during the meeting. Bring a friend. Refreshments after the meeting.

GARDEN SALE EVERY SUNDAY FOR WORLD HUNGER AT CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

There will be a garden sale each Sunday in September at the West Parish Congregational Church at 11:30 a. m. All the proceeds will go to CROP to fight World Hunger. The Congregational Church has had this sale for several years. It has been a good way to use the surplus of everyone's gardens. It has also been a good way to stock up on vegetables that didn't grow well in their garden.

So, if you had scads of vegetables this year and are tired of freezing and canning, bring your vegetables to the garden sale. Or, if you want to try some vegetables you didn't grow this year or your garden was eaten by all kinds of critters, get your vegetables for low, end-of-the-season prices at the garden sale.

There will also be a chance to vote for the vegetable of the week. Ribbons will be awarded to the vegetable with the most votes. Come and join the fun, all for a good cause.

insofar as becoming a "child of promise"—i. e. —"saved". It is completely up to the individual. As sinners we must recognize our position in the eyes of God. His forgiveness is absolutely necessary—we are to go to Him—asking Him to be our Lord —to accept Jesus Christ as our Savior.

"What must we do to be saved?" —Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." Acts 16:30, 31.

Fred Werner

Walking With Jesus Christ

"And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes, and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain." Rev. 21:4.

Yet, it's in the Bible — one of the promises of God — positive pledges to the children of promise. Gal. 4:28—"Now we, brethren, as Isaac was, are children of promise—as those who through faith and patience inherit the promises." Heb. 6:12.

It so happens that the world today—at this very moment is seeing the fulfillment of the latest of these final promises. For example, Israel as a nation—now set aside, is being used of God to restore a people as "Isaac was"—to become a nation of believers, professing Christ as their Messiah—Lord, The Anointed One.

The eyes of the world sees wars, famine — problems to overcome. We are part of it. Most people have yet to understand the reason for the difficulties—while "children of promise" know "the why" of the happenings as they are a part of God's plan.

Let's not misunderstand—God is love, He hates sin. We're all a sinful people, the world loves sin. Turn on T.V.—it's there to see and here—we're attracted to it like a moth to a light in the darkness—it's our fallen nature.

The children of promise—professing Christ, not ashamed to talk about their Lord, worship God—they know that even more trouble lies ahead—yes, much more—yet we live in the promises of God. There's a verse to ponder upon—Rev. 22:11—"He that is unjust, let him be unjust still; and he that is filthy, let him be filthy still; and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still; and he that is holy, let him be holy still."

The Christian knows—"where his bread is buttered" and does not entertain filth, immoral and worldly thoughts because to dwell on them is to become a partaker and will feel God's wrath.

Those who take hold of the promise of God—as we read "wipe away all tears" joyfully look to the end of these "last days". Whether or not this is near the end of time makes no difference insofar as becoming a "child of promise"—i. e. —"saved". It is completely up to the individual. As sinners we must recognize our position in the eyes of God. His forgiveness is absolutely necessary—we are to go to Him—asking Him to be our Lord —to accept Jesus Christ as our Savior.

TOWN TEAM TENNIS IN S.A.D. 44 STARTS SEPT. 4

Town Team Tennis, the latest adult recreational program sponsored by the area recreation committees and the S.A.D. 44 Adult and Community Education program, will begin on Saturday, Sept. 4, and continue throughout the month of September, with play-offs early in October.

A planning meeting was held on Wednesday evening, Aug. 25, at the Greenwood Town Hall attended by Lidy Thompson, Rick Whitney, Ellen Lovejoy, John Caron and Steve Chandler, of Bethel; Gary Fuller, of Locke Mills; and Lee Randolet, of Newry, as well as Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell. Mrs. Newell reported that interest in the tennis program has been received from Andover as well.

It was decided to form town teams from the S.A.D. 44 area, with each team to have a coordinator and be composed of six regular players, with enough reserves to insure a full complement of players at each match. The team coordinators are: Bethel A. Lidel Thompson, 824-2979; Bethel B. Rick Whitney, 824-2856; Greenwood, Gary Fuller, 875-2462; Newry, Lee Randolet, 824-3155; Andover, Leon Akers, 392-4587; and Woodstock, Jane Mills, Bryant Pond 57.

Anyone who wishes to join a team should call one of the coordinators. The matches will be scheduled for Saturdays, Sept. 4-25, with Sundays held in reserve as rain dates. Matches will be played at the town courts in Greenwood and Andover, and at private courts in Bethel. All matches will be doubles, using no-add scoring in single set play. No fee will be charged.

Town Team Tennis will provide adults in S.A.D. 44 with a fitness activity, and will build a foundation for a longer season of play next summer. Anyone with questions is welcome to call the Adult and Community Education office, 824-2136.

CHILDREN & AGING PARENTS

An individual's right to make his/her own decisions in matters affecting him/her has been regarded as one of the cornerstones to which this country and its families have been committed for years. It is a basic value of American life. As children of aging parents we should make every effort to foster self determination on their behalf. Morality requires not only that we respect our parents' self determination but also that we contribute to their health and welfare. In doing so, we may believe that the action that we take is in behalf of our parents when in reality this may not be the case. We should think this over carefully and make sure that we don't make them too dependent upon us all in the name of love. In as much as is possible, they must be involved and have control of their own lines.

In medical matters let's give our parents as many choices that are possible. These choices include:

1. Considerate and respectful care; 2. Complete and current information concerning diagnosis, treatment and prognosis; 3. Informed consent concerning treatment; 4. The right to refuse treatment; 5. Consideration of privacy; 6. Right to confidentiality; 7. Right to knowledge of their medical alternatives.

Tensions and ethical dilemmas in which physicians find themselves involved might possibly be eased if these guidelines are observed. Reasoning does not solve dilemmas but it does clarify a situation making a possible solution easier to obtain.

Comments Invited on Proposed Changes in Handicapped Education Programs

"Because of Public Law 94-142 (The Education for All Handicapped Children Act), our son has an educational future; the services provided have had a positive impact on his educational and social learning. We are very grateful for this law, for without it, we would have no means to advocate for what is his right to have—an education. We'd rather not think of what would likely happen if this law changed."

This letter, written by a woman from Hollis Center to Secretary of Education, Terrel Bell earlier this month, is similar to others I have received expressing concern about proposed revisions to the 1973 Act. The changes, suggested after a review of the present regulations by the Administration and the Department of Education, would include the following:

—It would no longer be required that handicapped children have available to them the variety of education programs and services available to the non-handicapped;

—Physical education, school health and social work services for disabled students, and parent counseling and training would no longer be required in schools;

—It would no longer be mandatory to place handicapped children in programs or schools as close to their homes as possible;

—Parental consent would no longer be required before a school evaluates or places a child in an education program.

The Education for All Handicapped Children Act and the 1973 Vocational Rehabilitation Act have proved to be landmark pieces of legislation in assuring the right and opportunities for both handicapped children and adults. Through them, Congress has clearly established its intent to protect the basic rights for our handicapped community—rights that many of us take for granted every day.

Since the Act's passage, Congress has continued to recognize its responsibilities toward the handicapped. Earlier this year, I co-signed a letter to President Reagan urging him to oppose additional reductions in funding for handicapped education programs. When it passed its recent budget resolution, Congress approved substantial increases above the Administration's budget requests for education programs for the handicapped—and it has rejected repeated attempts to replace separate funding for these programs.

W. L.; Adult Basic Education Tuition to be used as needed, Mary Buckman, Andrea Hoyt, Karen Paul and Carol Emery; Healthwise (Andover), Extension Service; Geography, Frances Gunther; Computer, Karen Bean; Computer, Monitor, Sean Kersey; A. E. Teacher, Linda Hertel.

The following aides were approved: Donna Brooks, resource room, Telstar Middle School; Maria Merrill, Andover Elementary School.

The bid of Richard Douglass was accepted for snow plowing service at Telstar Regional High School and the S.A.D. 44 Transportation Garage.

Fuel bids for the 1982-83 year were awarded as follows: diesel fuel, Ripley & Fletcher; regular gasoline, Union Oil Co.; #2 fuel oil, Ripley & Fletcher; #6 fuel oil, Webber Petroleum Co.

The posting of a vacancy in the position of Transportation Supervisor was authorized by the Directors.

The Board accepted the following resignations: Suzanne Bartlett as District Nurse; Gemma Morrill, Dreher as High School Drama Coach, and Loretta Merrill as a non-instructional aide at Telstar. Authorization was granted to post vacancies in these positions.

A residential placement was approved for a student in S.A.D. 44.

Dr. Wayne Gersen, Superintendent of Schools, reported that a half day workshop has been scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 8, for all substitute teachers who work in S.A.D. 44 schools. He also noted that student pictures will be taken at Telstar on Monday, Sept. 20, with pictures in the outlying elementary schools to be Tuesday, Sept. 21.

Board members absent Monday evening: Tim Carter, Bethel; Louise Chapman (resigned, effective with naming of replacement by Greenwood Selectmen), of Greenwood; Paul Hillquist.

The next meeting of the Directors is scheduled to be held at the Telstar Library at 1:30 on Monday evening, Sept. 13.

ADULT ED.—MANY COURSES

Credit Program, as well as to brush up on basic reading, writing and math skills, or to prepare for the GED exam. Small group daytime learning centers will be scheduled later in the fall, and home tutoring for those who need one-to-one help with reading is available through the S.A.D. 44/S.A.D. 17 Adult Basic Education program. The veteran high school diploma staff will be back including Hi Berry, Sue Bane, Anna Holt, Rod Abbott and Ralph Niemi.

Several courses are planned for fall in cooperation with the NOVA Adult Education program. Veteran Arnie Brown will continue to teach his popular welding course, and Jim Dalgard, a newcomer to the program, will offer a course in Basic Electricity and Home Wiring. S.A.D. 44 will add the vocational subjects of Traditional Blacksmithing, with Paul Beaton, and a hands-on Saturday workshop on Solar Greenhouse Theory and Construction, taught by Mike Chandler in his home-town of Andover.

Some unusual skills lead off the line-up of general enrichment courses. Howard Whitten will offer a hands-on Taxidermy Workshop, to be taught at Gould Academy, allowing course participants to view the extensive bird collection recently donated to the Academy by Lorus and Marjorie Milne of UNH. Sheep-raising is another new topic, to be taught in seminar form by Suzanne Laban, making use of visiting resource people, and covering all aspects of sheep-raising. Another new course is Rocky Swain's Wood heat, an eight week course covering, in depth, all aspects of wood as a fuel, and the efficiency of woodburning systems. Lucia Owen, chairman of the English Dept. at Gould Academy, will offer a general enrichment course in Fantasy as Literature in which the class participants will read and analyze the works of such authors as C. S. Lewis, Tolkien, and T. H. White. Fides Luz Ghassemi, a native of the Philippines who lives in Bethel, will share her cooking skills in a new class entitled Cuisine of the Far East, covering many types of oriental cooking.

Some new craft classes are included in the fall schedule such as pewter casting for Jewelry-making with Jim Owen in the Gould Academy Art Studio, class in Stenciling and the making of floorcloths with Barbara Hepburn of Harrison and an Advanced Quilting class to be held in Andover, taught by Catherine Calf from Dixfield, who also teaches in the Rumford Adult Education program. Rounding out the list of new classes is a course in World Geography, taught by retired S.A.D. 44 teacher Frances Gunther. This class will emphasize familiarity with people and places in the world, and the use of maps.

Traditional favorites are not neglected in the S.A.D. 44 line-up, with three sections of Holiday Crafts set for Andover, Locke Mills and Bethel, taught by Brenda McCarthy, Marjorie Swan, and Melinda Remington, respectively. Bob Grover will again teach beginning stained glass at his shop on Route 2 in Bethel, Agnes Haines is back with the chair-sewing workshop, and Rachel MacKay with Machine Embroidery. (Bethel Emergency Ambulance & Rescue Service, Inc.)

Squad training for all ambulance attendants will be held on Sept. 12 at the Bus Garage. There will be two sessions, one at 2 o'clock and one at 6.

The profiles have been completed. It is hoped you enjoyed reading about members of the B.E.A.R.S.

The B.E.A.R.S. would like to take this space to tell you a little about Auto Extrication. Many wonder why it takes so long to remove a patient from an auto even though the injury may not look serious to you. If moved the wrong way or not splinted to immobilize the proper way the results could mean further injury including paralysis or even death. The care taken at the scene may seem long to you who are not trained but to those who are it means doing everything in their power to prevent any further injuries. So please be patient with ambulance attendants, they do take good care of any sick or injured person—their safety and comfort are utmost in the ambulance attendants' minds.

Northwest Bethel

— Clarice Gibson, Corres. —

The last week end of August was lovely but cold. Our temperature was 32° this morning but as the fog came in we haven't heard of any gardens that it ruined. Wednesday evening the wind came up and when we woke up in the morning our clocks had all stopped at 11:30 p. m. Pat called and wanted OMP's service number. Apparently a branch had come across at the beginning of the road and guess our road was the only one affected. The lights weren't on until 7:45 a. m. Everyone I have talked with has been disappointed with their gardens this year. The tomatoes haven't ripened off very well and most people's cukes have not done well. So far the fruit crops have held up well but the wind did blow off a lot of plums and the early apples. The summer has not had too many beach days.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Hannon and friends went to Shelburne to celebrate their 15th anniversary Aug. 26. We had our 32nd anniversary on August 26. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Aylward came up for the evening.

Mrs. Sally Hannon has already started coaching Varsity Field Hockey at Telstar. The Hannon's daughters, Amy and Mary Beth, are both playing soccer.

Aug. 23 some coon hunters from Mexico were on our road. The dogs chased a coon into Stearns' cellar.

Sunday callers at Bob and Linda Howe's were her parents, Edward and Sylvia Fontaine, Mexico, and Rex and Sheila Cummings, Danvers, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Murphy went to the air show, Blue Angels, at the Brunswick Naval Air Station, the week end before last, and went to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Murphy's, Sebago, Aug. 29, for their granddaughter August's, second birthday.

Andy and his mother, Edie Smith, went to Lewiston for his dental appointment, Friday.

Doug Smith was at his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Smith, Jr., for dinner.

Saturday, Evelyn Hilborn and friend went to Wells River, Vt., and came back through Crawford Notch. Sunday friends from Hamilton, Ont., dropped in to Evelyn's on their way to St. Andrews, N. B.,

UMO Skywatch

(Prepared by University of Maine at Orono Planetarium staff.)

Only twice a year is a day and its night the same length. These two days are the autumnal and vernal equinoxes when every point on earth receives 12 hours of daylight and 12 hours of darkness in a 24-hour period.

The autumnal equinox begins this year at 3:36 p. m. Sept. 23. The equinoxes occur once in fall and once in spring (the vernal equinox) when the sun is directly overhead at the equator. At these two times the earth's axis of rotation is perpendicular to the sun's rays and if an imaginary line were drawn from the sun through the center of the earth, it would cross the equator on both sides of the world.

In September we look for the finest display of the "clouds" of light from the Milky Way. Viewing will be best on a clear night in the middle of the month. The path of the Milky Way will cross overhead from northeast to southeast. Venus, the "morning star," will make its exit this month as it moves too close to the sun to be discernible and it will remain hidden for four months as it passes behind the sun.

Just east of the sun, Jupiter will be visible in the southwest after sunset early this month, but by month's end it too will be hidden in sunlight. The two brightest planets, therefore, will not be visible for the next few months.

The first investigation into the relationship between child labor and school attendance took place in 1825 in Massachusetts. This was also the first investigation into a labor problem, and partly due to this inquiry, a child labor law was passed in 1838 according to "Labor First in America," a publication of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Anyone interested in this outing is urged to register at the SAD 44 Adult and Community Education Office by calling 824-2136 or at the Bethel Historical Society office 824-2903.

1982: RECORD YEAR FOR MAINE EAGLES

1982, the "Year of the Eagle" was another record-setting year for bald eagles in Maine. At least 72 pairs of eagles nested in the state and raised 56 eaglets. These are the highest nesting statistics during the 20 years that biologists have monitored Maine's endangered eagle production.

The U. S. Congress designated 1982 as the "Year of the Eagle" to highlight the 200th year that the bald eagle has been the national symbol. Eagles, unfortunately, have not always benefited in this role. Population declines throughout the contiguous 48 states have resulted largely from man's activities such as shooting, development of nesting areas, and chemical contamination of the environment. Bald eagles were officially listed as an endangered species in 1973.

State wildlife personnel are pleased with the continued year-to-year improvements by Maine eagles. One encouraging sign is an increase in brood size this year; eagles which nested successfully raised an average of 1.6 eaglets in 1982 compared to a range of 1.3-1.4 in recent years. Eagles nested successfully in 1982 at several locations where they had consistently failed for as many as 10 years.

A major contributing factor of nesting failure has been chemical contamination of the eagle's eggs, most notably from persistent by-products of the insecticide DDT. The increasing proportion of pairs which are capable of producing viable eggs suggests that this problem is diminishing. However, only 50% of the nesting attempts are successful each year. Researchers stress that because of this eagles in Maine still exhibit lower productivity than other bald eagle populations.

Officials credit the renewed interest and cooperation of the general public as a key ingredient to the eagle population's recovery. Citizens have reported nearly 10,000 eagle sightings in Maine during the past seven years. This assistance is always welcomed. Wildlife biologists are especially interested in suspected nest locations, observations of eagles wearing special markers (please describe in detail), and any eagle violations or potential problems. (Bald eagles and their nests are protected by both state and federal law.) Individuals are encouraged to send such information to "Eagle Project," College of Forest Resources, University of Maine, Orono, Maine 04469.

An important and unique aspect of the Maine program is the cooperative role of private landowners to protect eagle nests. Individuals owning small land parcels and corporations with large timber holdings, some containing as many as 14 different nesting territories, voluntarily limit activities on their lands to preserve critical nesting areas for eagles. Comprehensive management plans are prepared for each nest site and reviewed in detail with the landowner. The "Eagle Project" is a joint venture of the Maine Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife, the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and the University of Maine.
